

YOU AND YOUR JOURNEY –

Our job is not just about design; delivering a successful project requires a lot more...

We believe that when we truly understand you, you understand the full value of our service and we can deliver better buildings and spaces. Our process has been developed to ensure we do just that.

The first step will be to fully understand your brief and ensure both parties are happy to proceed.

1

Upon developing your concept, we will prepare drawings and visuals to allow you to sign off on the designs and confirm a realistic budget.

2

After we have something we are all happy with we will then submit the planning application and building warrant application on your behalf, along with any other legislative requirements for the project. Hopefully it will be celebration time when the applications get approved!

3

4

We will work together to develop detailed drawings and specifications, including your desired finishes along with a program of dates for the actual construction work.

5

Tinto will then help and advise you to choose the best contractors for your project.

We will manage contractor payments and certification for your build as we go and monitor progress against the program. When the project is finished we will provide completion certification and conduct a formal hand over.
